Commodities Update:

- Last minute update before printing:
For both dimension lumber and panel products the decreases have stopped and there are noticeable price increases.
- Dimension lumber: both SPF and Pressure Treated saw price reductions in most dimensions (although some did actually increase). The drops were certainly not as drastic as last July, but clearly noticeable. Whether the decreases will continue is questionable. Some sales experts are expecting a change in direction with increases coming on the heels of the Spring building season.
- Panels: both OSB and SYP plywood saw decreases as some mills caught up with their extended order files. Whether this will continue is questionable also.
- Drywall manufacturers announced significant increases due to their inability to keep up with demand. We'll most likely see increases of $30/MSF on drywall. Glass Mat sheathing will most likely increase $50/MSF and shaft wall liner as much as $100/MSF effective 5/2/22.
- Durock cement board, paper faced bead and trims and interior finishing products (compound, tape, etc) will increase this month also.
- Certainteed and GAF have announced shingle increases in the 8-10% range for late last month. We'll see where the chips fall before making retail adjustments.
- Insulation increase announcements look something like this:
Rockwool- 15% 5/16/22
High R sheathing- 5-10% 5/2/22
- USG has announced ceiling grid increases of up to 15% on 5/9/22.
- As reported last month, Clark Dietrich will increase steel studs on 5/2/22 by a minimum of 10%.
- We're having a very difficult time with our supply of Engineered Wood Products (I-joists and LVL's). If you need them, don't wait until the last minute. Plan ahead.

Words Worth Reading:

They call it rock bottom, like it's a hard floor you go crashing into and stop. But here's the thing: There's no floor. You can always go lower. Rock bottom is a decision. It's the moment you decide to stop falling and take control of your life.
