Commodities Update:

- Dimension lumber: SPF market in general is still on the lower side and if you have Spring needs, it might be a good time to lock in, because indications are that there will be noticeable increases when the better weather hits. SYP (PT lumber) has been on an upward trend for 6 weeks or so now but experts expect the direction to reverse and bottom out in the next few weeks.
- Panels: OSB continues along a similar course for the last six months, but there have been minimal increases which point to an upward direction. SYP plywood also continues to rise, albeit slowly.
- Dupont will increase extruded foam rigid insulation (XPS) by 8% on 3/31/26.
- With metal products increasing notably, our adjustable metal columns will increase by $5.00 each on 3/30/26.
- Amerimax will increase aluminum products by 18% (!) on 3/30/26.
- Schlage locks will increase 4-5% on 2/27/26.
- Quikrete is making its annual increase effective 3/2/26

Quote to think about:

“Do the right thing- no matter how difficult. The rest of life will take care of itself.”

Dad joke of the month:

I ate two whole cans of alphabet soup the other day. The next day I had the biggest vowel movement ever!

We are transitioning out of our “square drive head” exterior deck screws. Our main supply source is discontinuing them. The other type we stock, the torx head (star), will be our main inventory item for this category going forward. The clearance price for loose pounds from the bins is $3.00/lb. (normally $6.29/lb.) and $60.00 (normally $119.00) for 25lb buckets. Sizes still available are 1-1/4”, 1-5/8”, 2”, 3” and 3-1/2”.

Words worth reading:

“I have stood at the bedside of maybe thousands of people as they took their last breath. What people say in their final moments, it’s pretty important. They don’t mess around. When people are dying, in their last words, nobody ever said ‘Pastor Rick, bring me my trophies. I want to look at them one more time.’ Or even, ‘bring me my college graduation certificate. I want to look at it one more time.’

When people are dying and they know their time is short, what they want in the room is not things or trophies or achievement. What they want are the people they love.

Eventually, we all eventually figure out that it is all about love. It’s about relationships. I just pray you’ll figure it out a whole lot sooner- that it’s not about achievement, it’s not about fame, it’s not about fortune, that it’s not about all the things you dream of accomplishing in life. Those are great goals. But Paul says without love I am nothing. I am a sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. If I have not love I’m nothing.”

Hardware Humor:

“I know I’m not supposed to interfere, but how’s the dog going to climb through that?”
